The Taste of Victoria

Hungry for the unique flavour of Vancouver Island? Try these dining options focused on local ingredients

BY JULIA DILWORTH

Don't let the lack of skyscrapers fool you. Victoria is a world-class culinary city, completely obsessed with fine food. Downtown is essentially one big food court, with top restaurants on every street, and unique dining experiences in every style of international fare are scattered across the peninsula. But how do you find the unique taste of the Pacific Northwest? Fortunately, there's a thriving locavore dining scene too, specializing in the produce of the area's fields and sea. Consider this your cheat sheet to the best of everything farm-to-table.

OLO's menu is always changing, but you can count on freshness (above); Saveur (above right) offers a French take on Pacific Northwest fish, poultry and mushrooms; 10 Acres Commons serves produce from its own farm (right)
Chinatown’s OLO is the slow-food, peak-presentation mainstay that people buy gift cards for. It’s fine dining as far as the menu is concerned but the atmosphere is casual and fun, with heritage brick, splashes of orange and crazy scribble light fixtures. OLO’s menu is always changing, which leaves room for play and experimentation: sablefish collars (fins come with), confit chicken leg with a side of potato foam, and sablefish collars (fins come with), confit leaves room for play and experimentation:

OLO’s menu is always changing, which

10 Acres Commons is the anniversary dinner spot with an artfully crafted menu to match its rustic-luxe setting. It is just steps from the Inner Harbour, has a heated streetside patio and serves up organic pub favourites like mile-high burgers and buck-a-shuck oysters that you can wash down with a local white India pale ale. 10 Acres Bistro is a more casual option, with a locally inspired lineup of dishes (order the rotisserie chicken before it sells out) and drinks.

Brunch is practically a religion in this town, but to hit multiple birds with one stone, head to Paul’s Diner by Fol Epi. It’s attached to Paul’s Motor Inn, which has been a local icon since it started out as a drive-in theatre in 1966. The diner has just been taken over by Victoria’s artisan bakery darling Fol Epi and now this renovated retro gem is offering organic and hand-crafted brunch, lunch, dinner and cocktails.

For sustainably harvested Ocean Wise West Coast seafood, look no further than Red Fish Blue Fish. This cheery yellow shipping-container eatery is right on a wharf in the Inner Harbour, with casual umbrella-shaded seating by the water. The menu is fathoms deep, from tempura-battered wild salmon and chips to albacore tuna tacones and deep-fried oysters.

Cocktails

Want something stronger? Pass under a purple neon elephant on Fort Street and keep walking down a long tiled hallway until you reach Little Jumbo Restaurant and Bar, one of Victoria’s favourite downtown cocktail haunts. Dark and moody, with a touch of Prohibition-era mystique, it’s the perfect spot for meeting up with friends for truffle fries and a serious cocktail made from regional spirits. Other honourable mentions: Clive’s Classic Lounge, Veneto Bar Ristorante and Clarke & Co.

Spirits

On the waterfront in Sidney, Victoria Distillers makes a series of small-batch craft spirits, from hemp vodka to brandy, but it’s best known for the blue-purple Empress 1908 Gin. A collaboration with Victoria’s iconic Fairmont Empress Hotel, the gin gets its unique jewel colour from butterfly pea blossoms. It’s a favourite in cocktails, which you should try at the distillery’s cocktail lounge.

Cider

The whole family is welcome at Sea Cider Farm & Ciderhouse, a bucolic, 10-acre orchard between the ocean and Saanichton’s town centre with more than a thousand organic apple trees supplying the fruit for its award-winning ciders. Sipping a blush pink Ruby Rose on the patio with the waves crashing off the shore is exactly what Island life is all about.

Backyard Brews and Tipples

Beer

Along with local food, southern Vancouver Island is experiencing an explosion of craft beverage making. Set out on foot or cruiser bike into the warehouse district of Rock Bay, just north of downtown, for a brewery crawl. At Hoyne Brewing Co., $5 buys you a tasting flight (cash only). Sample the signature, hoppy-as-all-get-out Fat Tug IPA at Driftwood Brewery. Try the small-batch experiments at Whistle Buoy Brewing Co. Or luxuriate in the tasting room at Vancouver Island Brewing with a summer sour.

Fall in love

September is the time to take in harvest events like Brewery & the Beast Culinary Festival and the Salt Spring Island Apple Festival.
Down on the Farm

Driving out of downtown up to The Roost Farm Bakery & Vineyard Bistro in North Saanich is a different kind of farm-to-table experience. It’s a farm with a winery, bistro and bakery all in one location. The wheat grass you see blowing in the wind is milled on-site and used in the establishment’s freshly baked breads. You can stroll the vineyard, take a tour, do a tasting and then settle in at the bistro to taste food that’s grown within sight of where you’re sitting. On the way back to town, swing by Country Bee Honey Farm for a jar of infused honey – great paired with your favourite dishes.

The Glenrosa Farm Restaurant offers a similar on-location experience, but with the ultimate storybook view. Imagine sipping the Island’s Unsworth Pinot Noir rose on the patio of a lemon-yellow heritage house that overlooks rolling fields and a weather-beaten grey barn in Metchosin. Brunch, lunch and afternoon tea make this the perfect midday stop in the sprawling farmlands just outside of downtown Victoria.

Cruise the Markets

Practically every neighbourhood in Greater Victoria has its own farmers’ market, but the James Bay Market could be the most whimsical. It’s an open-air bazaar that runs every Saturday, May to September, where local farmers and artisans set up right on the grass, serenaded by live bands.

Year-round markets include the Esquimalt Farmers Market (outdoors May through September, in the Esquimalt Recreation Centre the rest of the year) and the Victoria Public Market. Housed inside the old Hudson’s Bay building downtown, the latter features The Very Good Butchers – not purveyors of meat at all, but producers of organic, plant-based meat alternatives like Ribz, pepperoni, Smokin’ burgers, bangers and Stuffed Beast. They have a little sit-in restaurant too, so you can try their Very Big Mac and gluten-free, vegan Mac ‘n Cheeze.

Living on an island, Victorians make the ocean a part of their lifestyle. Here are some great ways and places to enjoy being beside, on and in the water.

oised at the southernmost tip of Vancouver Island, Victoria is surrounded by water. Downtown restaurants and shops pour into the central harbour, which is a hive of activity. Dockside markets and pop-up concerts are flanked by the iconic Parliament Buildings and The Fairmont Empress hotel.

You could easily spend hours here, but for those who enjoy the water this is just the start. Aquatic adventures stretch in every direction: white-sand beaches, breaching whales and teeming tidepools are all within easy reach.
BESIDE the Water

The cliffside path that snakes along Dallas Road has one of the most stunning panoramas in the city, year-round. Over wild pink roses and a weathered timber fence you can look straight across the Salish Sea to Port Angeles or watch the windsurfers jump waves down below. When the sun is out, it seems like everyone is here with their dog or taking a book to the beach. Start your walking tour at the Ogden Point Breakwater with a coffee at Breakwater Café and Bistro, take a photo in front of the 1912 lighthouse, then start walking east as far as you care to go.

Another way to get a good view of the water – both salt and fresh – is to ride a bike along the Galloping Goose and Lochside trails, cross-city pathways converted from old railway lines. From Victoria Harbour, venture north along the Gorge Waterway (a six-kilometre sea arm that stretches from Selkirk Trestle to the Portage Inlet), across scenic wood-trestle bridges, over duck-filled ponds and through the forest before fetching up along the shorelines of a brace of local lakes. You can rent a bike for the day at Sports Rent, The Pedaler or Cycle BC Rentals.ca, or join a guided excursion with Bike Tours Victoria.

Want to see wildlife? To the west, in Colwood, lies Esquimalt Lagoon. Set back behind a long strip of driftwood-covered coastline, this migratory bird sanctuary is filled with families of Canada geese, swans, herons, gulls and ducks. People come from all over to photograph the waterfowl, and local artists have even taken to creating elaborate driftwood birds that you can spot along the beach.

Time permitting, Botanical Beach makes a highly recommended day trip. Yes, it’s a two-and-a-half-hour drive west, just past Port Renfrew, but you won’t find anything else like it in all of B.C. Over the years, rocks, ocean waves and sea urchins have punched unnatural-looking orb- and kidney-shaped tidal pools into Botanical’s soft sandstone. Plan ahead to arrive at low tide, enabling you to peer into these aquarium-like ecosystems filled with crabs, anemones, starfish, sea urchins, hermit crabs, fish and countless other fascinations, while the surf crashes below.

ON the Water

Pocked with sheltered inlets and bays, including the harbour and Gorge Waterway, Victoria’s shoreline offers even novice paddlers the opportunity to explore the rich marine environment up close. You can rent stand-up paddleboards from Ocean River Sports (which has locations downtown and in Oak Bay) and South Island SUP, as well as kayaks from Victoria Kayak. Many rental operators also offer scenic tours, which is a great way to get your bearings and become acquainted with the area’s aquatic residents – you’re guaranteed to see at least one otter or harbour seal!

Speaking of wildlife sightings, you’ll never forget the first time you see a pod of black orca fins slicing through the water, or a humpback splashing and rolling in the waves without a care in the world. Whale watching is something everyone should do at least once in their lives, and Victoria has numerous local charters that take you right into the action in speedy open-air boats or luxury catamarans to witness grey whales, orcas, harbour porpoises, sea lions and more in their natural habitat. Scenic sunset paddle tours from Kelp Reef Adventures showcase the marine wildlife (under Victoria’s signature pink skies), while 3 Hour Sail offers landlubbers the chance to steer the ship on a pleasure sail in the Salish Sea.

Tight for time? You don’t need a reservation for the charming Victoria Harbour Ferry – just hop on one of its 15 docking stops around Victoria’s Inner Harbour and up north through the Gorge. Small green vessels give you an intimate look at Victoria from the water (tickets start at $7). Harbour Ferry also offers 10- and 12-person group tours that run 45 and 75 minutes, starting at $30 per adult.

If Northwest Coast fishing is on your bucket list, Adam’s Fishing Charters and Island Outfitters offer thrilling high-sea adventure quests, from local salmon and halibut to crab, clam and oyster tours.
Want to hit the beach? You won’t have to travel far – one of Victoria’s best beaches is just a 13-minute drive from downtown. Nestled below the sleepy summer homes and stately mansions of Gonzales Bay, Gonzales Beach is a sheltered stretch of white sand with clear, clean water, public washrooms, picnic tables and plenty of space for everyone – even at the peak of summer you’ll never be towel-to-towel with your neighbours.

Granted, the Salish Sea can feel brisk. Fortunately, Victorians are spoiled with a selection of warmer freshwater swimming holes too. Thetis Lake is only a 35-minute car ride northwest from downtown and one of the biggest and best. The H-shaped lake is a great place for families or launching a kayak. If your group is more mobile, take to the 4.9-kilometre trail that surrounds the lake and look for a private rock bluff to set up shop for the day.

For those happiest under the waves, Rockfish Divers and Esquimalt Eco Tours offer snorkelling and diving adventures off Victoria’s West Shore as well as equipment rentals and boat charters. You can expect to see a rainbow of underwater vegetation, curious fish, crabs and anemones, plus whales and dolphins often make guest appearances while you’re out on the boat.

IN the Water

HOW’S THE WATER?
Ocean temperatures around Victoria range between 7.5°C in winter and 12°C in summer.

Need to refuel between aquatic adventures? Fisherman’s Wharf is a delightful walk west along the waterfront from the main harbour downtown. A charming destination on its own, this little floating community with houseboats and market stalls has even more seafood on offer at Barb’s Fish & Chips and The Fish Store.

Just across the Johnson Street Bridge (hang around to catch it flip completely vertical to let boats pass underneath) is the harbour restaurant and popular local haunt, Spinnakers Gastro Pub, where elevated and seafood-forward casual favourites combine with a stellar patio view.

A welcome new addition to Victoria’s on-the-water eateries is Boom + Batten, whose menu is inspired by the coastal Pacific Northwest; dishes like marinated octopus, scallops, albacore tuna and Humboldt squid show off the best of the ocean’s bounty.

And there are few better places to catch the setting sun (with fresh West Coast fare) than upstairs at the Breakwater Bistro & Tasting Room.

The Capital Region contains literally dozens of beaches, each with its own attributes and vibe. Ask a local or the helpful staff at the Victoria Visitor Centre for their recommendation for you and your crew.
Since the Hudson’s Bay Company established Fort Victoria in 1843, Government Street has been at the centre of city life. It’s paved now and the streetcar tracks are long gone, but the classic buildings remain.

The one-kilometre stroll along Government from Pandora Street down to the Inner Harbour, the Royal BC Museum, IMAX Victoria and the British Columbia Parliament Building proffers a broad avenue with generous sidewalks and room for benches, lined with stores and restaurants.

A century ago this was the bankers’ row, and the opulent buildings have found new lives. Munro’s Books, considered one of Canada’s most beautiful bookstores, is in the 1909 Royal Bank building. The Irish Times pub occupies the 1894 Bank of Montreal building, while The Bard & Banker Public House is in the beautifully restored Bank of British Columbia building, constructed in 1885. (The bard in the pub’s name refers to poet Robert Service, who worked in the bank.) Both are known for great food and live music. Garrick’s Head Pub has been in the same building at the corner of Government and historic Bastion Square since 1867.

If pubs aren’t your style, consider a stop at Murchie’s Tea & Coffee for a snack or one of their specially blended teas to take home. Or sidle up to the Tea Tasting Bar at Silk Road Tea in historic Chinatown for the finest organic tea blends.

Looking for gifts? Cowichan Trading Company has a wide selection of work by First Nations artists and craftspeople. Jade Victoria is also B.C.-focused, with carvings and jewelry made from jade from the province’s north. Then pop into Canadian-created Little Blue House for funny flannel sleepwear for the whole family.
Moss Street

To explore the quieter, residential side of historic Victoria, head to Moss Street. Start at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, just off Fort Street. The gallery’s permanent collection includes works by Emily Carr, the trailblazing Victoria painter. Nearby Craigdarroch Castle, built for coal baron Robert Dunsmuir, offers a look at the opulence and splendour enjoyed by the very rich in the Gilded Age.

Upper Moss is in Rockland, Victoria’s Nob Hill in the late 19th Century. Stone mansions nestle alongside Tudor Revival cottages, designed by Victorian-era starchitects like Francis Rattenbury and Samuel Machure. Heading down Moss toward the Salish Sea, you enter Fairfield. Mansions share the street with smaller homes built in the early 1900s as the city grew. Take time at Moss and Richmond to admire Old Ben Mosser. This sequoia tree, apparently a gift from California 170 years ago, towers 50 metres over the neighbourhood.

If it’s a summer Saturday, be sure to stop at the Moss Street Market at the corner of Fairfield Road. There’s local produce, arts and crafts and fashion, food stands and live music. It’s a great place to pick up supplies for a picnic. And if you continue down Moss to Dallas Road and Clover Point Park on the ocean, you’ll have the perfect spot to enjoy it.

JOHNSON Street

If Government is the Old Town’s pulsing artery, Johnson Street is its more hidden heart. Start at Government Street and head toward the water and the fancy new lift bridge. This was where, after the 1858 gold rush saw the city’s population jump from 500 to 5,000, hotels, saloons and dance halls sprang up.

Those brick buildings line the street today, and on LoJo — Lower Johnson — they house quirky shops and restaurants with brightly painted storefronts. This is the place to come for affordable, one-of-a-kind fashion. Baggins Shoes, in a classic 1899 red-brick building (once home to a brothel), is a destination for shoe buffs, with an amazing selection of Converse, Vans and Dr. Martens.

A few steps down the street, Market Square occupies a half a block and houses more than 35 eateries and shops — a tradition that started when Giacomi Bossi opened his liquor and grocery store here in 1883. Today, stores like Oscar and Libby’s — “jam-packed with all that is weird, wacky, and a wee bit whimsical” — offer an eclectic shopping experience. Food choices are even more varied; you can pretty much eat your way through the world’s cuisines. Just across Johnson is Il Terrazzo Ristorante, a local favourite for Italian cuisine in a romantic courtyard setting. If you have room, follow dinner with dessert at Mosi Gelato; or make a special trip — it’s worth it!
For years the District of Oak Bay, just east of Victoria proper, took quiet pride in claims it was “more British than the British.” Even today its main drag, Oak Bay Avenue, resembles an old-fashioned high street in an English village.

More recently, the municipality has gone for public art in a big way, which should whet your appetite for its galleries. The Avenue Gallery features contemporary Canadian art in a beautiful space, offering everything from jewelry to sculpture to paintings. Winchester Galleries, just down the avenue, features works by emerging artists and masters. (Don’t miss the upstairs space with works by Newfoundland printmaker David Blackwood.)

If you’ve worked up an appetite, don’t worry. Vis-a-Vis offers a menu based on the best from local producers and, next door, The Penny Farthing Public House offers great food and two dozen beers on tap. White Heather Tea Room offers classic afternoon tea, with sandwiches and sweets served on tiered trays. Save room though. Rogers’ Chocolates, in a handsome heritage building on the avenue, serves up amazing confections. (Queen Elizabeth II is reportedly partial to its vanilla creams.)

some people stay forever.

Oak Bay is a unique corner of Canada. Where seaside mineral pools meet hot shopping and history rubs shoulders with the avant garde. Only 10 minutes from Downtown Victoria.

You can see a game of cricket,
play Canada’s oldest golf course,
pedal along the coast, get out there in a kayak or try a cool craft beer in one of our pubbiest of pubs. Or you can just relax.

Whether you come for a day,
a week, or forever. Oak Bay is ready and waiting for you.

CLIMATE

Victoria has moderate temperatures year-round. The average monthly rainfall in winter is 13.5 centimetres (5.3 inches) and in the summer is less than 2.5 centimetres (1 inch). Compare that to Seattle’s average monthly winter rainfall of 34.3 centimetres (13.5 inches) and 8.6 centimetres (3.39 inches) in summer. Victoria has low humidity and almost constant offshore breezes, which keep summer days from becoming too hot. Summer evenings cool off, and a sweater or light jacket is recommended. Victoria boasts an average of 2,193 hours of sunshine yearly and an eight-month frost-free season. Although winters are mild, warmer clothing is recommended November through March.

TAXES

A Goods and Services tax (GST) of 5 per cent and a Provincial Sales tax (PST) of 7 per cent apply to most purchased goods and services in British Columbia. Additional taxes on short-term accommodation may be applied to the price of lodging.

British Columbia LIQUOR REGULATIONS

Persons 19 years and older are permitted to purchase alcoholic beverages at liquor, wine and beer stores, as well as to purchase and consume alcoholic beverages at restaurants, lounges and pubs. Two pieces of identification must be presented upon request.
